Market Summary

Economic Conditions

- November was a record month for coronavirus infections and hospitalizations, but several vaccines are on the near horizon. The pace of continued economic recovery will be dependent on the pace of vaccine rollout.
- Congressional lawmakers are working on a compromise $908 billion relief bill that contains $300 federal unemployment benefits but omits a 2nd round of stimulus checks. Other provisions include additional assistance for small businesses, $160 billion funding for cash-strapped state and local governments, new healthcare and vaccine-related funds, and a contentious provision providing temporary liability protections for companies from Covid-19 lawsuits. At the same time, lawmakers are also planning a short-term stopgap spending bill in order to avert a government shutdown on December 11.
- The Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell testified before the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs. Powell commented that the economic outlook is "extraordinarily uncertain" and urged Congress to approve additional Covid-19 relief funds.
- Retail sales climbed in October at the slowest pace in six months, confirming that consumers are becoming more hesitant to spend amid a new wave of infections and stalled fiscal stimulus. Likewise, consumer confidence deteriorated off six-month highs in November, as less optimism about the state of the economy appears to have dampened prospects for holiday shopping as new public health restrictions may limit consumer and business activity in the months ahead.
- The labor market also showed signs of slowing momentum as the U.S. economy added 245,000 jobs in November, well shy of the 460,000 estimate and down sharply from October's reading. The unemployment rate fell to 6.7% as the labor force shrunk. The number of Americans collecting unemployment benefits remains elevated.

Market Reaction

- Over the month, the yield curve flattened as the longer maturity rates fell. Longer-duration strategies outperforming their short-term counterparts. For the month, the 3-month Treasury index generated a muted return of only 0.01%, while the 5-year and 10-year Treasury indices returned 0.16% and 0.31%, respectively.
- Credit continued to lead relative performance among most investment-grade fixed income asset classes as spreads continued to gradually grind modestly tighter amid reduced corporate issuance.
