DESIGN REVIEW INFORMATION & PROCESS

Design Review approval is required for all exterior physical changes to existing multi-family residential, commercial, and industrial structures that may or may not require a building permit. The intent of this process is for the City to review the design of proposed development (for example, building architecture, landscaping, and site planning), in compliance with the City's Zoning Code and Design Guidelines. Please review Zoning Code Section 20-52.030 and the City's Design Guidelines prior to application submittal.

MAJOR DESIGN REVIEW - Major Design Review is required for projects with 5,000 square feet or more of floor area within a preservation district or visually sensitive location, and all projects with 10,000 square feet or more of new floor area (except those which qualify for Reduced Review Authority Design Review through the City's Resilient City Development Measures Ordinance). Major Design Review applications are acted on by the City's Design Review Board during a public hearing.

REDUCED REVIEW AUTHORITY DESIGN REVIEW - Multifamily residential projects, lodging, and childcare centers exceeding 10,000 square feet within the City's Priority Development Areas (PDAs) qualify for Minor Design Review under the City's Resilient City Development Measures Ordinance. Reduced Review Authority Design Review applications are acted on by the City's Zoning Administrator during a public meeting.

MINOR DESIGN REVIEW - Minor Design Review is required for projects that are up to 10,000 square feet in total floor area, and not within a historic district or visually sensitive location or project. Reduced Review Authority Design Review applications are acted on by the City's Zoning Administrator during a public meeting.

DIRECTOR-LEVEL REVIEW - Projects which consist of new awnings, adding a door or window, new rooftop equipment that cannot be seen from the street, ADA improvements associated with tenant improvements, "cool roof" material changes, outdoor dining for restaurants within a commercial district, and other similar changes as determined by the Director of Planning and Economic Development, will likely qualify for Director level Design Review. This level of design review does not require an application and will be processed in conjunction with a building permit using information provided for the building permit application.
